Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of the Generalissmio, in an article in the current Atlantic, has something to say that might have been taken out of an American text book.

Of course, Madame Chiang did have the advantage of a Vassar education and undoubtedly her thinking reflects that influence. From all accounts this influence is not only subjective but objective, in that the Generalisimo, himself, is much influenced by his wife. We are especially impressed with this statement from the article written by her:

"Possession of wealth does not confer the right to take unfair advantage of the less fortunate. But neither does China believe in Communism or wish to obtain it in our land. We prefer leveling up to leveling down!"

That last sentence is pregnant with meaning R.evolutions generally speaking "level downward." Evolution "levels upward." Revolution usually is encompassed in a few years. Evolution builds higher over the centuries. What Madame Chiang says regarding communism is her own individual view. From this distance one may suspect that China will shift to the left when the war is over. But judging somewhat by China's history, the shift will be slow. In many respects China is one of the most individualistic of nations. Perhaps nowhere on earth, in normal times, are property rights more precious or more protected. This fact makes for evolution rather than revolution, for a large property owning group invariably puts the brakes on communism. In Russia, property owners were only a small fraction of the population. Revolution was comparatively easy and extremely drastic. Not only were property owners, even little ones like the kulaks, victims of long suppressed wrath, but even the intangible things such as intelligence and acquired knowledge were suspect. Wise men and property owners often combined in one person, were led to the slaughter, or forced into exile.

This process in Russia was decidedly a leveling downwad. So drastic was the purge of the intelligent group, that Stalin for years, was forced to import brains, especially engineering brains. Even in the courageous struggle the Russians today are making against the German invasion hordes, one suspects that German brains trained the Russian officers. The great Russian purge of military leaders three years ago, resulted from the suspicion, which may have been well grounded, that the German officers engaged to train Russian army leaders had done their job too well. They had indoctrinated their Russian pupils with Nazi ideology as well as giving them the best of German military science.

The democratic processes in this country have been a "leveling upward." Sturdy stocks of Europe, peasants, craftsmen and professional groups have not only found a haven here from various oppressions, but they have been quickly assimulated. Often they have grown rich in the new soil of freedom in which every individual has been at liberty to carve out for himself a career of useful service. One only has to view, in normal times the huge parks of automobiles in the vicinity of any factory throughout the land, to realize that to all practical purposes, whether working with his hands or his brains everyman is the equal of every other man, in so far as conveyance on streets and highways is concerned. Like the doctors, lawyers, or the millionaire factory owners the workmen get to their work easily and expeditiously. Most workmen possess the common conveniences, such as refrigerators, hot water heaters, washing machines and all manner of household appliances

'PROUD OF YOUR EXPLOITS' READS CABLEGRAM SENT LIEUT. WILLIAM BENNETT

In tribute to the courageous exploits of Lieutenant William (Wild Bill) Bennett, alumnus of the Nevada City High School, in the Australian War Zone, the local high school student body today dispatched a cablegram to the Nevada City army air corps officer.

"Nevada City High School students are pround of your courageous exploits and admirable bravery," the cablegram read.

Lieutenant Bennett has been in almost daily combat with Japanese airmen and it is hoped the cablegram will express in a measure the feelings of pride Nevada Cityans have for him as a result of his conspicious bravery in air battles against the Japenese who seek to dominate our country.

When infomed of the action by the high school student body in sending the cablegram to Lieutenant Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Bennett parents of the army officer, expressed appreciation for the gesture and said they believed the cablegram will bring happiness to their son. Ruth Curnow Bennett wife of the lieutenant, also expressed her gratitude for the high school action.

Lieut. Bennett and three other army fliers, through their skillful and brave flying, have accounted for many Jap planes in the New Guiena area. They have been named the "Fighting Four" by army men in the Australian Zone.

On one trip the "Fighting Four" were accompanied by Lieut. Col. B. D. Wagner. Col. Wagner shot down three Japanese Navy O fighters and also helped Lieut. Bennett and other three members of the "Fighting Four" smash a dozen grounded Japanese bombing planes on the Lae airdrome and bomb and machine gun enemy installations and troops at Salamaua.

In addition to Bennett, the fighting four is composed of Lieutenants J. J. Bevlock, G. L. Schrimmer and C. Falletta.

Lieutenant Colonel Wagner in commenting about his fight with the "Fighting Four" in the raid on the Japanese bases, said:

"After leaving Lae we pulled over a hill and spotted the ground installations at Salamaua. We all made a pass at them.

"We saw the Japanese running like rats and we all swooped down on them, machine gunning. I don't think we left much workable at that spot. There was plenty of smoke coming up when we finished. We knocked the whole side out of a building. That took about ten seconds. We were preparing to return to base when we spotted about a dozen Zeros coming.

"Let's have a crack at them,' a couple of our boys hollered, and they peeled off.

"The next minute all twelve Zeros were piling on those two, so we all turned back and joined in.

"For twenty five minutes we had the best dog fight I ever saw. We chased each other back and forth between Lae and Salamaua, never above 1000 feet fighting down almost to the water and skimming the treetops."

L. Landry Is Heart Victim Here

Larry Landry, proprietor of the Montana Cafe on Commercial Street, was found dead early today in his apartment in the Davies Building, opposite his place of business.

The body of Landry was found by James Murphy, whom Landry occasionally employs as bartender. Murphy had worked yesterday for Landry because the latter had been feeling ill.

At 11 o'clock last night Landry visited with Murphy and then returned to his apartment with the intention of going to bed. When Murphy closed the cafe he went to Landry's apartment and found him on the floor.

Coroner A. M. Holmes, Chief of Police Max Solaro and Deputy Sheriff Carl T. Larsen investigated. Coroner Holmes is continuing the investigation bpt it is apparent Landry died of a heart attack.

Landry had been in Nevada City approximately 12 years. He came here from San Francisco.

Mrs. Landry went to San Francisco on a visit earlier in the week. She has been notified of her husband's death and is due to return to Nevada City this afternoon.

The body of the deceased is at the Holmes Funeral Home here. An autopsy is to be performed.

RED CROSS DESIRES ADDITIONAL WOMEN FOR KNITTING WORK

The Nevada City Red Cross Chapter will receive 560 yards of muslin for hospital shirts and 80 yards of material for women's blouses.

It will require the service of many workers and those wishing to volunteer for such work are advised the weekly meetings are held at the National Hotel on Tuesdays.

Mrs. Belle Douglass states the local Red Cross has navy sweater yarn on hand and a quantity of colored yarn for civilian sweaters.

The Red Cross here has shipped 27 pairs of army socks and 28 army sweaters to the San Francisco Presidio. Ten pairs of gloves have been sent to San Jose and three turtle neck sweaters, four caps and one helmet sent to the navy supply depot.

MINERS TO MEET AT DUTCH FLAT

The May meeting of the California Hydraulic Mining Association will be held Sunday at the Dutch Flat Hotel at 2 p. m.

Secretary W. W. Esterly announced a luncheon will be served at one o'clock for those who care to be there to eat. He said the luncheons are informal and all are welcome.

Nomination of officers and directors will be in order at the meeting and the election will follow in Grass Valley in June.

"Scoop" Thurman, assemblyman, has arranged special entertainment for the meeting.

NAVAL BOARD TO MEET AVIATION CANDIDATES

The Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board of the Twelfth Naval District, San Francisco, California, will visit Marysville Junior College on May 13 for the purpose of interviewing and physically examining students interested in naval aviation.

The board will be composed of Ensign George Wingfield Jr., line officer, Lieut (.jg) E. B. Johnson, medical officer, C. A. Alva, Yeoman 3rd Class and H. E. Guio, Pharmacist Mate First Class.

Capt. Chapman Given Important Position By Army

Captain Allen Chapman, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Chapman of Nevada City, has been appointed to an important position directly under General Arnold, director of flying for the United States Army, a newly-created branch of the armed services.

Captain Chapman was notified of his appointment in Denver, Colo., and flew to Washington to take over his new duties.

"It is very necessary work," Captain Chapman writes, "for we are directly responsible for aircraft accident prevention. It is an outgrowth of a sattistical section which classified and investigate accidents but now due to the rapid expansion of the air force the directorate has been given the necessary authority to take any preventive action. I am very much interested in the work.

"At present I am in charge of the administrative work and am assistant in charge of the Accident Prevention Section. Other departments are Statistical, Investigation and Analysis."

Supervisors Boost Salary Of Welfare Director; Consolidate Townships

The Nevada County Board of Supervisors, at its meeting this month, granted salary increases to the county welfare agent and other courthouse personnel.

The increases are to take effect on July 1st.

The supervisors adopted an order fixing the salary of Welfare Director Charles Ingram at $2100 per year. It was further ordered that the two public assistant workers in the department of social welfare, of which Ingram is the director, be allowed not to exceed $10 per month for traveling expenses. The stenographer in Ingram's office will be allowed a salary of $1260 per year.

A motion was carried granting the county recorder extra help of one assistant at a salary of $80 per month for 12 months. The agricultural commissioner was granted extra help of one assistant at a salary of $80 per month for 12 months. The above orders were renewals of the previous fiscal year's extra help grant for the two county offices.

Gertrude Esterly, public assistant worker, was granted a one month leave of absence by the supervisors.

The supervisors ordered the purchase of a flag and the installation of a pole on the courthouse lawn.

An ordinance dividing the county into three judicial townships was adopted by the board.

Nevada Township will include Nevada, Bloomfield, Washington, Eureka and Bridgeport Townships.

Grass Valley Township will include Grass Valley, Rough and Ready and Little York Townships.

Meadow Lake Township will be the same as previously.

TWO NEV. CITY STUDENTS WIN JR. COL. HONORS

Miss Margaret Norton of Nevada City and Neal Ivie of Nevada City have been selected to be student speakers at the annual commencement exercises of Placer Junior College in the Placer Auditorium May 21st.

The announcement was made by Dr. D. E. Oertel, dean, following the recommendation of the administrative committee, composed of Miss Elaine Mobley, S. M. Barooshian and Earl Crabbe.

Miss Norton has a grade point average of 2.30 during her four semesters at the college. She was editor of the Placer Phoenix, the college annual, this year. She is a graduate of the Nevada City High School.

Neal Ivie has a grade point average of 2.25 for the three semesters he has attended Placer Junior College and one quarter at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah. He entered Placer as a transfer student during his freshman year. Ivie has been prominent in dramatics at college.

Both are members of the Placer chapter of Alpha Gamma Sigma, state scholarship honor society.

Dr. Oertel announced selection of Peter Knoles, Sacramento historian, to deliver the commencement address.

War Effort To Be Aided In Campaign

Cleanup Week will start Monday in Nevada City and will end on Saturday, May 16.

Mayor Benjamin Hall, in his capacity as head of the city council and also chairman of the Nevada City Civilian Defense Council, has proclaimed the coming week as a time for a general city wide cleanup.

Cleanup campaigns have been held before but added emphasis is given to the one this year.

All articles which may be useful in the war effort are asked to be set aside. They will be picked up by city trucks.

These articles include scrap metal, iron casting and all kinds of other metals such as brass, copper and zinc. Tin cans are not wanted, but newspapers, wrapping paper and cartons are desired. The paper should be folded flat and all tied in neat bundles.

The salvage committee of the local defense council, headed by Geo. W. Gildersleeve, will supervise the gathering of discarded metal, newspapers, etc.

The committee also urges local residents in their cleanup aperations to save all kinds of discarded rubber goods.

The cleanup campaign will not only add to the appearance of the city and provide materials needed for war but will also remove fire hazards in homes and surroundings.

The general chairman of the cleanup campaign is Emil J. Ott. Dates for picking up salvagable materials will be announced by Ott later but in the meantime anyone desiring additional information can secure it by calling Ott at Nevada City 32.

LOCAL MINING MAN WILL SUPPLY CHROME TO GOVERNMENT

John Hampton Lashbaugh of this city reports he has a contract to supply 125 tons of chrome per month to the federal government.

Lashbaugh said he has several properties in this county under option, including the Grass Valley Extension Mines in the Deer Creek district, the Nick Pello property in the same area, chrome property in the Washington district, the Maben Mine below Grass Valley and seventeen acres in the Lady Jane Manor section.

Lashbaugh also has chrome property in the Forest Hill district. He said efforts are being made to have a stock pile for chrome either in Colfax or Auburn.

Constable James Williams was taken to the county hospital this week after his illness became aggravated. The constable has been ill for the past several weeks.

Caught in the Riffles

For one half hour Monday night a man paced Broad Street from Pine Street to the City Hall. The look in his eye was convincing proof he wasn't out for exercise. There was a suspicious bulge beneath his coat and visible from the front was the leather strap of a shoulder holster.

A friend stopped him and attempted to persuade him to go home. Angry words came forth.

"I'll kill him as soon as I see him!" the man shouted.

The pacing continued, interrupted occasionally by the disappearance of the man into a beer parlor.

Then Chief of Police Max Solaro walked from the City Hall. The sidewalk was clear. Solaro walked down as far as the postoffice and returned. He saw no one.

Soon the man stepped from a beer parlor and continued his search. Solaro, apparently observing him from the City Hall, caught up with him at Pine Street.

There was an exchange of greetings. The chief shook hands with the man and with the other hand reached into his coat and removed the gun. It was loaded!

And they say nothing ever happens in Nevada City!

Grass Valley Superintendent of Schools H. R. Spiess, one of the officials in charge of sugar rationing registration, received a telephone call Monday.

A woman inquired whether she could apply for a rationing card for a child she is expecting in a day or two!

In the opinion of Game Warden Hiscox the water snakes at Scotts Flat reservoir are taking too heavy a toll of the fish life.

So yesterday Hiscox opened war on the snakes and reduced the reptile population at Scotts Flat somewhat.

The local game warden recalled last fall he saw a group of the snakes rolled into a huge ball at Scotts Flat. He emptied his gun into the ball of snakes and killed about 15 of them, all sizes.

It has been learned that some of the larger water snakes will eat trout as large as ten inches in size.

One branch of the government urges gigantic celebrations for departing selectees with bands playing, speeches, etc—send offs similar to World War I. But the Selecttive Service headquarters prohibits newspapers to publicize dates and time of departure. The average citizen would like very much to see soldier trainees given rousing sendoffs but how can they participate when they are kept in ignorance of the departing time?

The public information committee of the Nevada County Defense Council, is considering the sending of a letter to General Hershey in Washington, D. C., in an effort to abolish the rule prohibiting newspapers publishing departure dates.

Funeral Conducted For Charlotte E. DeWitt

Last rites were conducted at the Holmes Funeral Home here this afternoon for Charlotte E. DeWitt, 7 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James DeWitt of Nevada Street. Father Patrick O'Reilly of the St. Canice Catholic Church officiated at the services. Burial was in Pine Grove Cemetery.

The local girl, a student at the Nevada City Elementary School, passed away in Weimar after a month's illness.

In addition to her parents, she leaves a sister, Joan DeWitt of Nevada City.

Dan E. Dodge, member of the highway department staff, has been transferred to a Los Angeles district. He and his family left for that city yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Patrick of Anaheim, parents of Mrs. Dodge helped the family to move.

THE GHOST OF COVENTRY

Up to last week, the Nazi bombing of ancient Coventry in England stood out as the most merciless and murderous punishment ever dealt the people of a non-military city in world history.

Up to last week, Hitler himself occasionally referred to Coventry's punishment as a sample of what he would deal to cities of other countries that had opposed him or might oppose him.

Last week came the British bombing of Rostock. This bombing became the hushed, frigtened talk of Berlin. A munitions-making city of 115,000 so smashed and burned that the population was being evacuated. Thousands killed. Many thousands buried in flaming ruins. More and heavier raids daily by British bombers, clouds of bombers. And American bombers also coming soon—thousands and thousands of them —coming to the skies above German cities.

The Nazis do not boast of Coventry any more. Perhaps they try to forget it. They think of Rostock—and then they know that the ghost of defenseless Coventry lies over Berlin every long fear-ridden night.

SAVING RUBBER SAVES LIVES

Because many California motorists have reduced their driving speeds to conserve rubber, many persons who would otherwise be dead are alive, and several hundred who would otherwise have been injured are sound and hearty. That interpretation is given by state motor vehicle officials to the latest accident statistics.

In March of this year, 104 persons were killed and 1464 injured on California highways. That is a seriously high toll —yet it does represent a substantial drop of 16.1 per cent in fatalities and 25.6 per cent in injuries in comparison with the figures for March, 1941. The average motorist is probably upon the highway as many hours today as he was a year ago, officials conclude, but he drives more slowly—and to this reduced speed they accredit the safety improvement.

If by driving slowly to save rubber they are saving their own lives, motorists may at last come to common agreement to outlaw the speeder for all time and tone down highway speeds permanently. They might be just as happy, as well as longer-lived. After all, Marco Polo and Columbus and Sir Francis Drake got around and saw a lot—and you could drive a model T flivver in low gear faster than any of them ever moved in his life!

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder now as the sun goes down
And the stars appear over Tokio town,
If the wily Japs are obsessed by fear,
Remembering Pearl Harbor, bombed last year.
Do they stand aghast mid the raid alarm
Mumbling and muttering Shinto charms?
Do they cry, "rising sun, she are going down—
Oh so, U. S. stars over Tokio town?

I wonder if the tricky Japs who offer one hand in friendship and stab the unsuspecting victim in the back with the other, can stand up to the retribution which is sure to follow. Failure to protect their own skies from flying stars of the U. S. A. will probably constitute a major crime in the eyes of authoritly and we may now anticipate a wave of hari-kira—the modest and genteel manner of admitting failure.

During her twenty six hundred years of existence, Japan has never been invaded—that was her proud boast, but now the young eagles of an American flying force have broken the spell. The rising sun is setting. Shintoism has lost its potent charm,t there is more than a scintilla of evidence that Hitler's "yellow Aryans" are about to receive a salutary lesson.

I wonder if our so called complacency will return in ull force after the war is over. Free speech and a free press we shall most surely preserve, we hope with certain limitations. No householder would tolerate the presence of a guest who sought to disrupt the harmony and authority of his home; why then should America submit to the mouthings of a Father Coughlan, the presence of foreign spies, and the pernicious utterances and deeds of pressure groups, many of whom repeat the words and perform the tasks assigned them by leaders of foreign regimes which are distinctly antagonistic to our own. Safety like charity, begins at home, the man or woman who works secretely or openly to destroy our confidence in our institutions and to overthrow our government, should be dealt with as an unwelcome guest.

Strangely confused doves of peace seem to be flying about in the soft warm air of spring. The poor bemused bird of Italy, with a withered olive branch in its beak and frightened, backward glancing eyes, coos, "If we Italians can catch Hitler with his back turned, we could make a swift leap and get out of this mess into which Mussolini and his cohorts have entrapped us."

There may soon be a litle yellow bird floating out very tentatively from Japan; oh so wishful to find peace again, that is, if all ill gotten gains may be retained by honorable land of Rising Sun.

"Hi, why for you run to the cellar?"
Cried one little Jap to another.
The first Jap looked up with an Aryanish grin,
And made this reply to his brother;
"Oh so, I hear honorable buzzing,
The same which are made by an bee,
And Ithink there are big U. S. bomber
Over Tokio town—so I flee." —A. MERRIAM CONNER.

that are found in the homes of the wealthy. The only great difference between those who labor with their hands and those who manage plants or follow the professions is in the character and quality of the homes. But in so far as actual comfort is concerned the industrious craftsman lives usually as well as the millionaire.

This "leveling upward" process has been due to a number of factors, free educational opportunities, the steady progress of unionization of workmen, and to the democratic system of free enterprise. That abuses have crept into industrial relations, resulting in collisions between management and employees, is due to the lack of wise regulatory measures and the absence of adequate governmental machinery for arbitrating differences. Slowly such measures and such machinery are being established. When they are established and accepted, we shall see further advances toward the goal of ending poverty and prosperity for all.

THE POOR FAT RICH MAN

News in Rhyme April 29, over KJBS
Written by Harley M. Leete, Jr.

Folks, tough news is here at last,
Just when your income's rising fast,
Twenty five thousand's all you get—
The President recommends we set—
A limit to wage and scale and price:
Mister President, you can say that twice.

Trudging through on twenty five grand.
Leading a life from mouth to hand,
Or is it hand to mouth, they say?
Anyhow, we'll rue this day.
How are we ever going to eat,
With income decapitated right at the feet.

Listen to the rich man as he hollers,
"Only twenty five thousand measly dollars.
How in heck will I butter my bread,
Or keep silk sheets on my four post bed?
I'll have to cut down on ten-buck shirts,
Oh, how terribly this rule hurts.

"We'll cut down champagne and caviar,
But soon we'll have no motor car—
Completely lost for lack of rubber:"
Here the rich man begins to blubber.
Persons can hardly enjoy their wealth,
With but twenty five thousand to keep them in health.

We must admit it's terribly tough,
Though twenty five thousand is nearly enough,
To keep the wolf away from the door,
And even to ease the strain a bit more.
In fact, a person might even get by,
On an income not quite so

delightfully high!
If your income was cut to twenty five grand,
And further increases suddenly banned—
You had to take that—no more—no choice:
Frankly, my friends, now wouldn't you rejoice?
So here's a laugh with poor rich folk,
Whose twenty five thousand leaves them broke!

THE HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER

To Private Willie Gillis, and to millions of American boys now in service, the home town newspeper is like a dozen letters from home, satisfying their craving for all the news about the folks they know. The home town newspaper is friendly, intimate and satisfying. The soldiers and sailors, and the folks at home, read every word with eager interest. It is as American as the Stars and Stripes, as vital as Faith, Hope and Charity. Through the home town newspaper, advertisers reach the millions of American families on the basis of a warm and ready welcome into their homes. In his Saturday Evening Post drawing of Private Willie Gillis, Norman Rockwell has paid a convincing tribute to a great institution.—THE HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER.

BEAUTY

The soul, by an instinct stronger than reason, ever associates beauty with truth.—Tuckerman.

The fountain of beauty is the heart, and every generous thought illustrates the walls of your chamber—Quarles.

Beauty is but the sensible image of the Infinite. Like truth and justice it lives within us; like virtue and the moral law it is a companion of the soul.—Bancroft.

His words declare the beauty of holiness, and His manifold wisdom shines through the visible world in glimpses of the eternal verities.—Mary Baker Eddy.

I pray thee, O God, that I may be beautiful within.—Socrates.

Nothing in human life, least of all in religion, is ever right until it is beautiful.—Harry Emerson Fosdick.

THIS IS THE STORY OF CARBOLOY

How a Most Strategic Material of the War—Invented in Germany—Was Made Available to the United Nations

More Precious Than Diamonds in War Production . . . Carboloy is an American trademark for cemented tungsten-carbide, an alloy second only to diamonds in hardness, more precious than diamonds as a vital material in America's war program. It is used for the tips of cutting tools, and for wear-resistant dies. Carboloy is used in small quantities; it is difficult to make and difficult to use—but it has never been scarce in modern times. There is no scarcity now.

Invented in Germany—Krupp Protected by U. S. Patents . . . Cemented carbide was invented in Germany—it belonged to Krupp of Germany, and this made all the rest of the world Krupp's customer. In this country, Krupp was protected by patent grants from the United States.

General Electric Creates Independent Production . . . The General Electric Company two years before this had begun research on tungsten-carbide and foresaw its importance in industrial production. For immediate use in its own plants and for easier availability to others, General Electric undertook the long and arduous negotiations for the American rights. Limited rights were obtained in 1928, with Krupp continuing to export the material to its United States customers—a business which languished, however, as General Electric painstakingly developed its own Carboloy technique. This paved the way for General Electric to make the United States entirely independent of Germany for its cemented tungsten-carbide supply as early as 1936.

American Tool Costs Half That of German . . . From the start, two totally different businesses were involved. Krupp originally exported cemented carbides in chunks—and was unsuccessful. General Electric—and its subsidiary, Carboloy Co., Inc.—found it necessary to develop a complete engineering and manufacturing service, making various types of Carboloy equipped tools, training men in their use, and offering to its customers a specialized and successful production technique. For purposes of fair comparison, a typical German cemented carbide tool in 1928 cost $22.26 in the United States, while a comparable American Carboloy tool cost $11.11.

Loss to General Electric for Many Years—Art Taught to Industry . . . In times of peace—and 1928 was such a time—the measure of success of industrial adventure is to be found in profit to the adventurer. By such a measure, Carboloy could not be called successful. Initial expenses were great. For a time the Company lost at the rate of $1000 a day, and once had an operating deficit of more than a million dollars.* One of the major contributing reasons was the continuing high cost of development, standardization, and training. In 1936-37 alone, training courses were given to 10,000 men in industry. Moreover, six major price reductions were made in the face of operating losses, until the standard tool blank had been reduced in price 90 per cent.

Faith and Perseverance . . . Depression was still another reason—labor-saving tools could not be sold to industry or labor at any price. But General Electric, with determination that now seems providential, kept on—increasing its capacity, granting new licenses, condoning instances of unlicensed production, staying ahead of its market.

Production Multiplied Forty-five Times in Four Years . . . Cemented tungsten-carbide could easily have been a source of weakness here, as it was in England, had it not been for General Electric's policy of continued expansion. In 1939, the production of the Carboloy Company was less than 20,000 lbs.; in 1940, it was 55,000 lbs.; in 1941, it was 163,000—and in December came Pearl Harbor. Now, in 1942, the Company's production is going at a rate that is 45 times that of only four years ago.

Britain Dependent upon Us . . . By contrast, British companies, which had been content to continue as customers of Krupp, found themselves cut off from the vital material when Poland was invaded. But the General Electric Company was able to supply substantial quantities to British industry immediately and since then has continuously filled British orders. It has, in like manner, filled Canada's requirements since 1936. It is currently supplying Canada, Russia, and other United Nations. All this in addition to supplying the greatly expanded needs of American industry.

An Inspirational Story of American Industry . . . Thus, the story of Carboloy does not end in "too little and too late." Like many previously untold stories of American industry, it continues, a sturdy and inspiring example of public service born of private enterprise, and characterized by hard work, ingenuity, investment, research, risk, and courage—a familiar pattern on this side of the Atlantic. General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

Over the entire period of its existence up to January 1st, 1942 the total net profit of the Carboloy Company was 2.5 per cent of sales.*

Morning prayer with sermon at 11. Music by Trinity choir under the direction of Mrs. Carl Libbey. Mrs. Fred Anderson, organist.

—Catholic Church

Two masses will be celebrated Sunday at the St. Canice Catholic Church. The first mass will be at 8 a. m. and the second at 10:30 a. m. Father Patrick O'Reilly and Father Edward Williams will conduct the services.

—Christian Science Society

The Christian Science Society in Nevada City holds service at 114 Boulder Street every Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. A testimonial meeting is held the first Wednesday of each month at eight p. m. The reading room at 117 Broad Street is open every day except Sunday and holidays from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

"O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity." These words from Hosea comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Adam and Fallen Man."

Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good." Genesis 1: 27, 31 (to first period.)

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The standard of perfection was originally God and man. Has God taken down His own standard, and has man fallen? God is the creator of man, and, the divine Principle of man remaining perfect, the divine idea or reflection, man, remains perfect." (p. 470.)

—Methodist Church

Mother's Day program at 11 a. m. Organ prelude. Miss Barbara Warren. Introit choir. Hymn 169 "Ye Servants of God Your Master Proclaim," choir and congregation. Prayer, pastor. Anthem "Love Never Passeth Away," choir. Scripture reading. Vocal solo, "My Mother's Prayer," Dr. Gordon Rodda of Sacramento. Mixed quartet, "Selected", J. A. Warren, Lloyd M. Geist, Mrs. Anne Warren, Mrs. Jean Sherman. Responsive Scripture reading. Offering and offertory. Vocal solo, "The Stranger of Galilee", Dr. Rodda. Sermon, "The Christian Mother," pastor. Closing hymn, prayer and doxology. The church decoration will be done by a very fine committee, the flowers to be given in honor of mothers who have gone home. Bring a bouquet in honor of her and in her glorious memory. All fathers and mothers are asked to be present. Let us make it a great family service. Everybody welcome.

JUSTICE GEORGE GILDERSLEEVE SEEKS ELECTION

Justice of the Peace George Gildersleeve has announced he will be a candidate for the position at the August primary election. Justice Gildersleeve has ably handled the position since his appointment to the post three years ago by the board of supervisors following the death of Walter Mobley.

Through past experience as justice of the peace of Napa Township, Justice Gildersleeve is well qualified for the position he holds and to which he seeks election.

Gildersleeve came to Nevada City 25 years ago to take over the Nevada City News. Following suspension of that publication he continued to operate a job printing business.

All the while he has been in Nevada City Justice Gildersleeve has been interested in the welfare of the community and always worked hard for any plan or movement which he considered beneficial to Nevada City.

For years Justice Gildersleeve has been a director of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce and this year he was given the honor of serving as president of the local booster organization.

Justice Gildersleeve is a property owner here. In addition to membership in the local chamber, he belongs to the California Hydraulic Mining Association, Nevada-Sierra Peace Offices Association and Wyoming Tribe of Redmen.

During the three years he has served as justice of the peace, Judge Gildersleeve's record has been one of justice and fair play to all. His many friends believe through his experience and excellent record he merits the approval of the Nevada Township voters at the polls on August 25th.

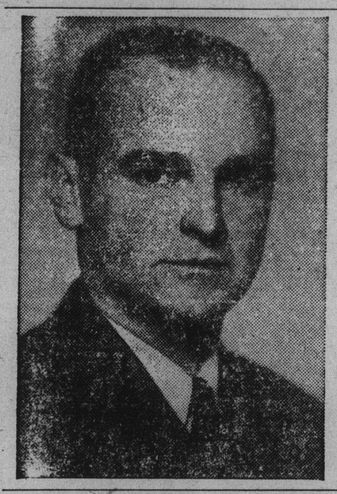
JAMES ROLPH CANDIDATE FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR

James Rolph, well known to Nevada County voters and son of the late Governor Rolph, today announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor.

In a statement announcing his candidacy, Rolph said:

"Four years ago, you honored me with your confidence in polling the popular vote by 33,000 over my nearest competitor for the office of Lleutenant Governor.

"I have always tried to conduct myself in a way worthy of that confidence and am again a candidate for that office. Many times have I visited all of our 58 counties, expressing my thanks and keeping abreast of the rapid changes that are taking place within our borders. To serve California is my greatest ambition and I ask you: 'Won't you again vote for me so I can serve you as your lieutenant governor?'



"I am a Californian and my candidacy will be conducted as such, seeking the support of all Californians, regardless of party, race, creed, or religion. My political philosophy is based upon our Democratic form of government—"Of the people, by the people, and for the people."

"To preserve those ideals, we must have faith in California. The spirit of California was molded by the Pioneers who, with indomitable American fortitude, overcame the snow-clad Sierras, the thirst of the deserts, the malaria of Panama, and the storms of Cape Horn—so must we have that same spirit to successfully conclude the enormous task before us today and to build the great industrial and agricultural empire that California is to be. We must do it together and we will do it!

"In the words of my own beloved father: 'Let us face the future with heads up, shoulders back, looking forward with serene confidence in the destiny of our state',"

"'With your help, I shall look forward to that goal."

Australia--Or Cruising Along Main Street

You can't have your cake and eat it, too.

It's that way with the tires on your car. If they are in better than average condition you may get 10,000 miles of travel—equaling the distance to Australia. You can dissipate that mileage in carefree travel flings or you can stretch it through months, or even years, throuhg cautious cruising along Main Street and sundry frugal trips.

No, the thoughts of tires wearing out isn't pleasant. But neither is this war. After all it takes rubber, equivalent to 10,000 tires to build a battleship—and we need battleships. It takes rubber for those P-28's, those jeeps, those sea rafts to save soldiers and sailor lives. So we give up tires—gladly—to set America rolling through a war she must win.

Let's say that your tires ARE good for 10,000 miles. How much rubber do those frequent motor trips of yours actually take?
WE'LL TELL YOU—

A round trip to Sacramento reduces tire life by 1/84th.
(Our round trip fare is $2.94)
Motor to Vallejo and return and your mileage is reduced 1/40th.
(Our round trip fare is $5.15)
San Francisco and return cuts 1/33rd off that precious 10,000.
(Our round trip fare is $6.35)
A round trip to Los Angeles wears your tires down 1/10th.
(Our round trip fare is $12.02)

USE YOUR CAR—CERTAINLY—

We believe that motoring, especially now, holds recreation that the American citizenry needs more than ever in enjoyment of the widespread gloories that ARE America. Use your car—but take it easy.

In necessary trips you will find it far more economical to travel by busses and railroad. Accredited transportation lines are servants of government and public alike, equipped to offer every convenience, comfort and service. Economical? Yes. While operating costs have needfully advanced travel rates are attractive in the fact that they are established and supervised by the government.

The rights and obligations of a transportation company are founded upon public convenience and necessity. In peacetime convenience is of almost paramount importance. In wartime convenience must give way to necessity.
